That Tariff Commission.

Strange statements are sometimes given out at the White House especially regarding legislation, and one can hardly believe that President Taft authorizes some of these announcements. For instance, it is given out that the chief aim of the President at this session of Congress is the enactment of a law for a tariff commission; for "the need of the present moment is to show the voters of the country that the Republican party is the best medium for dealing with the affairs of the nation." From this we might infer that the proposed tariff commission is an entirely partisan matter, although it is styled "non-partisan" but it is intended to fool the voters once more into believing that the Republican party "is the best medium for dealing" with tariff reform. Evidently the Presidential advisers are trying to play the same game on the President that they have advised him to play on the people. And the people must be shaking their sides with laughter when they remember that the Republicans have just revised the tariff, and that President Taft declared last summer at Winona that the Payne-Aldrich bill is the best tariff measure ever enacted by the Republican party. If that was true then it must be true now, and the need for a Republican tariff commission must be for partisan politics only.

The Republican party, including President Taft, can have no need for a tariff commission unless it can be used to give some lame ducks a chance to get at the public crib; for after March 4th the Republicans will have no power to inaugurate tariff reform because the Democrats will be in command of the House of Representatives where all tariff bills must originate.

The Democrats can have no use for a tariff commission that they cannot control, and whose members are not in unison with the Democratic plan of tariff for revenue; for the information that such a commission would gather, or any advice that it might give, would very naturally accord with the Republican party that appointed it.

If the President has been converted to the Democratic position on the tariff and now really believes that tariff reform is necessary, and wants the tariff commission to save his face, so to say, and would be willing to appoint a majority of real tariff reformers on the commission, then the Democrats might be willing to help him out by voting for the bill. But from the Democratic standpoint of a tariff for revenue, there is quite enough evidence in existence to prove its necessity, and the only help needed is to adjust the several schedules so that both the manufacturer and the consumer will be accorded exact justice, and the plundering "theory" of protection shall be laid on the shelf where it can no longer be invoked to protect the "special interests" or to rob the taxpayer.

The single fact that Aldrich, Cannon, Payne and the other standpatters have suddenly commenced to favor a tariff commission, when at the last session of Congress they were utterly opposed to it, is evidence enough that it is a partisan purpose which they hope to effect. The game evidently is to make the insurgents believe that through President Taft—the "stalwarts" consenting—the Republican party is to go on record as favoring a tariff commission, and then show the voters that the Republican party is united, and would have carried out their wishes for real tariff reform if they had not made the great mistake of turning the House of Representatives—and mighty nearly the United States Senate—over to the wicked Democrats.

The theory of the tariff commission move is that with both factions of the Republican party favoring such legislation, they may, as a forlorn hope, re-elect President Taft as a tariff reformer and keep Congress in line on the "theory of protection."

Perry Asked to Produce Proof.

Commander R. E. Peary, the Arctic explorer, told the story of his trip to the Frozen North at a hearing last week before a sub-committee of the House Committee on Naval Affairs. The purpose was to furnish proofs of his discovery of the North Pole on April 6, 1909, in connection with pending legislation for national recognition of his achievements.

He produced all his original notes and answered numerous questions. Cross-examination by Representative Macon, of Arkansas, who had announced his opposition to recognition of the explorer, was postponed on account of time taken in reading data. Macon asked especial light on the thirty hours Peary was at the Pole and Peary read from his logbook detailing his four hours' sleep, his journey beyond the Pole and back to the camp.

Escaped With His Life.

"Twenty-one years ago I faced an awful death," writes H. B. Martin, Port Harreison, S. C. "Doctors said I had consumption and the dreadful cough I had looked like it sure enough. I tried everything I could hear of for my cough, and was under the treatment of the best doctor in Georgetown, S. C., for a year, but got no relief. A friend friend advised me to try Dr. King's New Discovery. I did so, and was completely cured. I feel that I owe my life to this great throat and lung cure." Its positively guaranteed for coughs, colds and all bronchial affections. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Oberdorfer's.

Kentucky Banks Safe.

None of Kentucky's funds will be affected in any way by the failure of the Carnegie Trust Company in New York. Although State Treasurer Farley of Frankfort, has been ill with acute indigestion he wired the various depositories of the state funds to ascertain if this bank was their correspondent in New York. Learning that it was not Farley stated that Kentucky would lose no money by this big bank failure.

Sample Helps Frail Women

So many women are dragging out weary lives just because their digestive organs are weak. The result is poor circulation, nervousness and the verge of invalidism. It is often very unnecessary and the woman's own fault.

The first thing to do is to look to the welfare of your bowels. There the trouble usually lies. All physicians know that a large percentage of women are habitually constipated, and from this results indigestion, piles, weariness, etc., that women constantly complain of. But there is no use taking "female remedies" and things of that kind until you have started your bowels to moving. You will find that when the bowels move regularly once or twice a day all your petty ills will disappear. Take a good, mild laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin for awhile and you will find yourself rapidly getting better and stronger, your bowels will regulate themselves and work at stated times, and then your headaches and dizziness will disappear. Don't take strong cathartic pills or salts, but just such a mild and pleasant-tasting remedy as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

You can obtain a bottle of your druggist for fifty cents or one dollar, and either size may be enough to permanently cure you. Thousands of women keep it regularly in the house and will no longer be without it, as it cures in a moment and can be used with safety by every member of the family, down to the youngest child, but if you have never used it take the advice of Mrs. Earl S. Cox, 409 Twenty-fifth street, Moline, Ill., and Mrs. Ellen Dungan, Muncie, Ind., and send to Dr. Caldwell for a free trial bottle, as they did, and learn for yourself what it will do in your own case. That it will cure you, as it did them, there is no doubt. Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, R. 500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Patriotism

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than most people are aware. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia. The confirmed dyspeptic "is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier and a fault finder. A sound stomach makes for good citizenship as well as for health and happiness. Diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are promptly and permanently cured by the use of

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY.
It builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle.

The dealer who offers a substitute for the "Discovery" is only seeking to make the little more profit realized on the sale of less meritorious preparations.
